The text of the article states: "WALLIX, European software security software, today completed a fundraising of two million made to TDH, the personal holding Thierry Dassault and venture capital funds Auriga Ventures. With this, the editor of Wallix AdminBastion (WAB) completes its round with an investment fund able to accompany him on an ambitious international development plan, as well as Thierry Dassault, an expert in intelligence and President of KEYNECTIS / OPENTRUST, Europe's leading technology and trust services. Since the launch of its Wallix AdminBastion in 2008 WALLIX has clearly positioned in the market for AMI: managing identity and access. The strengths of the solutions WALLIX are around securing access, user management of privileged accounts and the traceability of operations. The company is one of the few companies worldwide to have developed a technology 'session recording' for recording sessions connecting to the information system and its Restitution in video-logs. Now deployed in more than one hundred large companies and in industries as diverse as banking, industry, media, public sector and local communities, the WAB has emerged in past three years as the leading product for secure access and tracking user actions to privileges such as external service providers. WALLIX products are distributed in the form of software and hardware appliances through a network of integrators and VARS certified present in France, Belgium, Luxembourg, Switzerland,"

Russia and England.

After analyzing the growing success of WALLIX solutions on the market and to support deployments in Europe, WALLIX decided to strengthen its capital base with new financial partners.

The editor has to do a mandate to Cabinet LD & A to accompany him in organizing a fundraiser.

"Our development plan has been able to attract investors both reference and market security.

In a more muscular, now we plan to strengthen our presence in England, Germany, the Benelux countries and in countries southern Europe, the Mediterranean and the Persian Gulf.

We aim to support the implementation of corporate governance and compliance with statutory and regulatory requirements, dematerialisation and security of cloud computing public or private.

Given the growing impact of cybercrime, and the delay that we have accumulated in Europe, we are more than ever mobilized to provide our customers the means to check information and to build a European offer innovative and sustainable.

" said Jean-Noel Galzain, CEO WALLIX.

"This capital will significantly bolster our round and our capital base, which is a strong signal in terms of sustainability for our major customers." said Amaury Rosset, chief financial officer and associate WALLIX.

"WALLIX is positioned on a growing market with a high added value, and we are very pleased to fund and support international developments in scope to come." said Francois Lainée, partner at Auriga Partners.

"Over the years the security of information exchange over computer networks has become a key issue for companies.

My stake in WALLIX reinforces a strategy of investment in French companies on these issues paramount.

I wish WALLIX can quickly take its place among the first European players as is the case today as I accompany Keynectis since its inception in 2004.

"Said Thierry Dassault.

After the capital increase, the company is transformed into WALLIX SA Management Board and Supervisory Board.

The Executive Board is composed of Amaury Rosset, chief financial partner, Jean-Yves Portalier, Deputy Director General with Jean-Noel Galzain of becoming CEO.

The company adopts a Supervisory Board composed of five members, namely Stéphane Taunay CEO of Sopromec, Pierre-Yves Dargaud, CEO of Access2Net, François Lainée, partner at Auriga Partners, Didier Lesteven, entrepreneur and Thierry Dassault.

The Supervisory Board elected Mr. Didier Lesteven Chairman of the Supervisory Board of WALLIX.
